

YOU ARE INVITED TO JOIN US ON March 6, 7, & 8 at Oak Brook Farms Oak Brook IL, also March 20 and 21 for a weekend of fun and finding harmony with your horse. also at Tower Hill Equestrian Center (click links for directions) in Dawson, IL (outside of Springfield)

Diane Rodich has been teaching and training horses and riders from the beginning levels through the FEI levels for the past 20 years. She is a Certified Dressage Instructor with the United States Dressage Federation and the American Riding Instructor Association.

Diane enjoys teaching and finds great reward in helping her students communicate with their horses and ride effectively. She follows the classical system of dressage training in her teaching and utilizes her skill and understanding of the biomechanics of horse and rider to help her students ride in harmony with their horses. She has studied extensively with Mary Wanless and is currently working on becoming certified by Mary. You can see Diane in Mary's new book.

Diane earned her USDF bronze and silver medals, and has won numerous year-end awards through Intermediarre I with scores consistently in the upper 60's. She studied with many well-respected dressage trainers throughout the country and in Europe. In 2006 she spent 6 months living and training in Germany with international coach Conrad Schumacher. Diane currently trains with Ashley Holzer. She resides in Long Island, New York and Wellington, Florida in the winter months. Diane has written an article that was been published in the December, 2006 issue of Dressage Today! The Article, which is called "Fix Late Flying Changes," It explains the systematic, step-by-step approach that Diane learned from Conrad Schumacher to successfully retrain late flying changes . She was interviewed for an article that was in the December, 2009 issue of the Equine Journal. The Article titled 'Choosing the Right Dressage Horse For You' gives valuable advice about buying a dressage horse in America and in Europe.
